we start the last section with an engraved 'X' at sol 1541. At sol 1542 there is a small chitinous exoskeleton of a reptile on the rock wall. Then we find sol 1544 has more red/blue enamel like coating, sol 1544 had a stone figurine.

Sol 1546 we see a fragment of a figurine disappear, just before sol 1548 which shows us the logos of JPL.

On sol 1549 there is a caiman like creature with the teeth visible. The caiman is somewhat denatured but can be visualized. On the same sol we also see some fungus like material and some suspected fruiting bodies.

At sol 1550 we see a "happy face" and remains of what could be another pelagic creature.

Sol 1551 had a segmented – like worm or isopod - like with a head and mouth parts visible under normal magnification with antennae like structures.

Sol 1551 is another frame that holds a lot of insight with the focus being a silver ring laying atop a rock. See figure 1551_6X7785.

Sol 1552 shows us an interesting cut mark.

When we get to sol 1554 we see some more parallel cut lines followed by another incredible engraving of a mob harass a round headed girl who is marched through the crowd of onlookers by a tall helmed guard of enormous stature. The helm has a nasal guard that is riveted along the perimeter of the nasal guard and around the top and bottom of the brow strap with a metallic conical helmet shaped like Phrygian cap. He has a look of uncertainty on his face while the small woman is driven before him with the burden of a large fagot on her back, the only round headed woman in the image.

Sol 1555 has an excellent image of some clear beads many of which have drilled holes.

Sol 1558 has some transect lines that help identify the location of the dead.

Sol 1555 sees more beads with holes, and at sol 1562 images of an archaic nest with some residual fungus. We also see the necrotic tissue close by. Sol 1562 also has some white blotches that are suspected fungi and a machined hole with a beveled edge.

At sol 1565 there marks in the substrate that show the vague outline of a gun - shaped artifact that was pried out of the sand. At 1566 we also see a deeply scored line

Of all the images a few are very important for all of us in our insatiable need to explore our past. At sol station 1567 we see a deceased di-morphic creature with a humanoid body and a feline head that was exhumed.

Sol 1568 6X1244 has a head sticking out of the sand.

Sol 1569 is another example of trauma from the widespread chemical / nuclear attack.

Sol 1571 the dissociated necrotic tissues has two defined lobes.

Sol 1572 has five images that includes an interesting nest like depression that has black and white staining that look like faces. There is a fossilized snake head, an image with two frowning faces, sol 1573 has some white mineral suspected to be naturally occurring calcium while at sol 1575 we see more of a caked white mass that could be a fungal outcrop.

Sol 1582 has what appears to be a part of bone plate that resembles a scapula. Sol 1593 overlooks a part of the study area close to this station.

We move to sol 1757 that shows us a slide with some clay figures, sol 1766 has two images of a denatured mass of red blue gel in a single mass, an example of the enamel coating a surface and finally residue of the enamel flaked away from the disc sanded area of sol 1769

we take it up at sol 1766 with the two examples of the BBF AEROGEL XEROGEL from sols 1436 and 1438 which shows a widespread area that is affected .1766_6X0890 and 1766_6X4296 to sol 1769_6X2439. This correlated with the initial image with the rock coated show a wide distribution area.
