from sol 654 to sol 670 we see a lot of trauma. In the clearest pictures minute details can be observed sol 654 has what appears to be a fish laying at the base of a unique formation.

sol 668 shows a suspected petrified features with a hollow interior and visible intermediate layers similar to a torso but with the top smashed off, pieces nearby. I suspect that these are remains of giants. .

sol 669 features a precision installed hole immediately beside sol 670 with more defunct networks. Objects that look like tools. Finally at sol 677 we can image a cadaver with some objects close by including a metallic omega and a straight artifact

At sol 684 we see multiple over head anomalies combined with views of the smashed causeway. some dramatic sights with a suspect smashed causeway, a massive long slab rock at the foot of the headlands broken in many places almost as if it was tossed aside by some incredible force.

Sol 686 has some headlands that have unique shapes and symmetry as if they artificial lettering, A large rectangular object with some fixations that are symmetrical lays partly buried in the sand. t- There are also carvings in the rock wall . Also there are some huge interlocking blocks that fit together with precision and are indeed massive over 20 tonnes each. There is also a huge round block similar to a giant bust of a head laying on its side at the foot of the blocks.

Sol 691 shows a rock with many holes in it that could've been mined with some tailing at the base .

At sol 704 we see a variety of fascinating objects beside dissociated miners. There is a beautiful ornate helmet that is long and peaked. Close by are some packaged goods pouches and other artifacts specially crafted, There may have been more than one species amongst them. Two subjects appear to be taking cover, / At sol station 704 we also see a fish with visible teeth an excavation site with terraced levels and artifacts still embedded in the hillside with a string of beads laying alongside perfectly preserved.

frozen faces, Combined with the mined rock at sol station 691, a picture of previous life on Mars for this miner can be assembled.

Three sols down at sol 709 is a remarkable and surprising find where brain matter from three different species are arranged in a row beside each other. The demonstration makes a distinction between 3 brains from similar sized creatures but with vastly different morphology. The brains and brain stems appear to be avian reptilian and a small mammal like a feline, but this requires a closer look. The questions it raises also make clear that hasty conclusions about the identity of the curators of this park should not be misinterpreted as accidental.

a few objects were pried out of the dry wall but one item remains with a rough rectangular outline, The imprint at sol station 711 could be some precious booty like mineral or some kind of tech objects which are not uncommon.

Next we see more chipped rock with an adze close by at sol 733. But when we get to sol 736 we find a different sort of character, This is no freelance miners but the emblematic skin tight mesh clothing looks easily to be synthetic and with no hand tools but only small innocuous shapes that could be anything. . Also at the same place we find a boat shaped object and remains of what constituted the ribs and keel of a disintegrating craft smaller than the former. , Some remains of a buried cadaver that met the blade of a bulldozer like machine is suggested by the degree of trauma . More remains including a hillside that has many suspected faces, a decapitated large hominoid like creature, a gorilla head, some shields with victims taking cover behind them and a trunk made of wood with sturdy metal straps , build for travel ,. Two cut heads wind up the trauma that is sol 736, probably at least one ogre like creature assailed the family and their goods while awaiting transport presumably off world.

At sol 746 we see the head dress,. Emanating like rays around a central feature. and so well preserved, Also at 746 are some fruiting bodies of some type of mycology with stalks and round heads blooming in the detritus, The basidiocarps looks intact and have shiny appearance on the heads, probably alive., This location is also home to the enigmatic rocket with exposed interior undoubtedly carved by an original artist.

As we walk along the trail beside our rover we see at sol 756 a very large fang or canine tooth that could come from any carnivore to match the size. Grizzly bear canines can get to one decimeter in length, polar bears one half decimeter long while a saber toothed tiger would have had a canine 3 decimeters long, similar to this example.

At 758 we see some geometry in the regolith with some transect lines that meet at a perpendicular, and at sol 761 what I have called the 'Technopistol'. The item has a handle and a bladder affixed to a thin tube similar to a barrel.

Through sols 762 to 777 we see some evidence of suspected fossils particularly one of a very larger creature with a chitinous exoskeleton and holes for extremities. The creature could be up to 30 meters long mostly obscured as it is partly embedded in the sand. We then encounter a reptile skull and a very good image of a paved road, This leads us to the tailbone of the archaosaur in plain sight.

As we get into the areas around 781 to 811, first we see a nightmarish debris torrent that has remains in the matrix. we begin to see some very ecumenical carvings after evidence of a toppled megalith and more melted jewelry. At sol 786 we find a suspected amulet, then accordingly we see the another melted omega along side the remains. .

It then takes 22 sols to reach Nyad rests by the right shoulder of her man, a bearded human or God engraved in the wall. There is another representation of Nyad on a wall at Fountain Islets, over 400 sols distant from this position. Also at this spot is another wall carving that depicts a man crucified with an angry man shouting below him. These two crafted pieces of fine art are safe at sol station 811 for the time being.

At sol 812 we see a dissociated form of an animal that looks like a canine or a type of dog. I have seen these close to other fossilized dead suggesting a partnership that reaches across the stars, Sirius comes to mind when I think of dogs in space.

At sol 815 there is an example of a partly buried organism that dissociated in the exposed area more than the buried portion of the sample..

sol 817 has some interesting wall engravings with some areas that deserve more inspection.

At sol 818 we see some more engravings of lines letters and figures followed by a metal object a few sols down at sol 823.

The small metal object is followed by a very big hollow rock that is interesting as it does have intermediate layers in the cross section.

Sol 832 had the biological samples laid out and marked / cleared of debris and a stone bust with a unique look of tranquility.

There is some discrepancy about the image of the fossilized antelope at sol 848 as this image is missing but I can state clearly that the hoof from the antelope matches the hoof prints seen previously.

Sol 849 is an epic scene on the trail with a monkey head followed by a family taking cover with a baboon and some boxes of supplies. Some synthetic mesh fabric that adhered to the fossilized remains of a defunct network is visible. We see a small face, the area where they took shelter and their last moments encased in dried mud. The baboon appears to be as much family as the others and the curls of hair on the brave young man peeping out from the protection of the canvas covering are still clear to see at sol 851.

.At sol 874 we see some melted copper possibly jewelry of some fashion and a substantial amount piled up and melted.

12 sols later a tech instrument is found that had a noticeable thumb divot placed accordingly inline with the direction of the groove, maybe an implement for fishing or sailing.

At sol 893 we see some melted metal and what appears to some cut gemstones in the mix.

Sol 907 has a good example of how the rock is modified by an unknown culture which constitutes by definition culturally modified rock.

There are some white domes and a bubble like feature on a tower at sol 947, along the path to sol 959 as well as sign of some types of activity along the way sol 956 has a square rock while sol 959 shows an engraved 45 degree angle seen in the underlying sediment. . Also at sol station 959 is an engraved letter V that is embossed and clear to see.

This is not to be outdone by the incredible engraving of a bomber dropping a nuke with a mushroom cloud above it. This is a clear representation of a sight all too familiar that was taken down and has been dutifully reported as such.

There is more dramatic multimedia artworks at this location with a depiction of some kind on a type of metallic foil. There is also a paint that was used in the artwork that has embossed figures mostly incomprehensible.

At 961 we see icons, wall engravings and some accompanying objects close to a dissociated cadaver

At sol 964 a comparison between this site and sol 632 shows striking similarities, Sol 988 featured a bust of a bearded man, very detailed and a clear image. This is not visible in the current iteration.

Sol 991 also compares well to the violet light we saw early in scroll 1. The UAP at sol 874 was Iso still keeping a close eye on the march.

Sol 993 hints at some verse that is engraved in a long string and sol 993 is yet another example of the regolith being mechanically scored to highlight a feature in the sub- strata that is noteworthy.

Sol 994 must have had a beach break prior to the denuding of water from the basin as we find a score left waiting on the beach; a surfboard, ready for the next wave. Combined with the boat this paints yet again a familiar scene of island life.

Sol 995 features another geometric slab of rock with some Greek letters, A macro view of this part of the trail is provided as is an image of a curly haired man, presumably knowledgeable in Greek, in a state of almost total decay , his locks and beard still visible at sol 1029. My hypothesis for this specimen is that the sailor was submerged during the final even, tossed overboard and drowned to be eventually exposed as the water withdrew. His body is mostly buried in sand and perfectly preserved and would include any clothing or items he had with him.

sol 1029 finds an interesting object partly buried in the side of the disturbed or pushed earth, sol 1033 is a detailed and complex site with many forms of clear evidence that points at a number of takeaways that are significant to us culturally. Characterization of this frame is a challenge and since it was taken down it need only be said that the engraving is of a large laughing dragon who appears to rejoice in the scorn of an inhuman throng of entities mocking a naked man and a woman at the foot of a giant caduceus, There is a half moon atop the spire and snakes surround the nude man and woman.

Close by to this are also some engravings in the rock wall.

Sol 1046 and sol 1047 have more of these engravings and marks in the wall and some engraved faces, one with a remarkable watermark.

Sol 1050 has one of the carvings that is main reason why I undertook this catalog. With the repetition of known symbology echoed in our churches we see this image of a giant who must be 20 meters tall fighting a group of organized warriors, The men surround the giant, the giant easily holds one man in his left hand while the others encircle the giant at close range. I think of David when I remember this beautiful engraving ; sol 1050 also has a detailed engraving of an unfolded helical structure of a DNA strand and other complex symbols that required further study especially in proximity to David and Goliath. As we conclude our tour of the region at sol 1050 we leave with the memory of an engraving of what I initially called the GOBLIN. This detailed engraving had me wondering what the nurses were giving TOLKIEN while in hospital during world war 2. The image of the goblin face is large, large round eyes, pointed ears, ghost white complexion a bald head and baring razor sharp teeth. The creature has a long face and could also be either mistaken for an ET rather than a figment of TOLKIENs imagination. In the last few frames of the second scroll we have more modified rock especially another wall engraving with some verse fashioned in lines into the shape of a bird similar to that which we have seen in the NAZCA LINES in Peru. Just after seeing the altered rock at sol 1053 and at 1055 a poignant comparison of the windward and leeward sides of a high hump of sand shows us what the chemical wind can do to the windward side: scorched ,glassy and melted while the leeward side is sandy.
